A MESSAGE FROM OUR EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR + BOARD CHAIR

Dear Friends of InnerCity Tennis,

In 2022, we found balance, growth, and took on new challenges as we strove to help Minneapolis youth recover from two years of unprecedented disruption in their lives. We focused on helping them develop a passion for lifelong physical activity, connecting them with mentors who care and support them, and creating a community in which they could belong and matter.

Our core programs returned to their pre-Covid-19 pandemic status, and we cannot overstate how important that has been. Through Super Saturdays and our school-time programs in Minneapolis elementary schools, we introduced over 1,750 youth to the game. Through Summer Tennis in the Parks and Cities Academy, we provided more than 4,000 participant-hours of coaching to 2,000 players, ranging from beginners to rising stars. And through our growing Excellence Team, we provided more support than ever to young, talented players seeking to reach their highest potential in tournament competition.

And we must mention our robust adult playing community, who, in 2022, brought the tennis center to life with matches, drills, leagues, and more. Of course, it's not just kids that need to be physically active!

But there is still so much more we can do to make a difference. Too many young people in our city lack positive, developmental relationships with caring adults. Too many do not belong to enough healthy communities. And too many don't have what they need to develop healthy habits of lifelong physical activity. The deficits, we know, have devastating impacts on young people's trajectories at home, in school, in the workplace, and in the greater community.

To continue to grow our impact and do all we can to address the need, in 2022 we significantly expanded our afterschool programs with Minneapolis Public Schools, working hand in hand with their Beacons Network to bring our youth development tennis programs for the first time to MPS Middle Schools. Given the physical location of Reed Sweatt Family Tennis Center in South Minneapolis and understanding the disparities that exist across our city, our efforts have focused on supporting schools and students in North and Northeast Minneapolis. So far, our results have been incredibly encouraging.

We could not have made this impact without the tireless and generous InnerCity Tennis Community. In 2022, over 250 volunteers invested more than 950 hours in ICT programming, and our coaches dedicated themselves not only to improving athletic performance but also to fostering personal social-emotional development. Our network of committed players and generous donors ensured that the organization remained healthy, vibrant, and able to fulfill its mission.

We are humbly aware that much work still needs to be done, but we are confident in the importance and effectiveness of our work. We look forward to the future with optimism and gratitude for your ongoing support of InnerCity Tennis as we continue to put our mission into practice.

John Wheaton,
Executive Director

John Nealon,
Board Chair

Who We Are

OUR MISSION

We develop and unleash the potential of youth on and off the tennis court by engaging and serving a supportive community.

OUR VISION

To be the leader in youth development through tennis.

PROGRAM VALUES

Enthusiasm, Integrity, Perseverance, Respect, Responsibility, Service, Teamwork

KIDS WE SERVE

We facilitate high-quality youth development through tennis programs for kids throughout Minneapolis, with our participant demographics reflecting the diversity of our city in all its dimensions: racial, ethnic, physical, cognitive, family income, and more.

Our commitment to accessibility is put into practice through extensive collaborations with a variety of schools and youth development partners, through programming in Minneapolis Public Parks, and through free-of-charge and scholarship-based programs at our Reed Sweatt Family Tennis Center.

We believe that every child deserves the chance to thrive, we are honored to be a part of their journeys, and we are committed to breaking down barriers to participation.

4-STAR NJTL CHAPTER

InnerCity Tennis is a 4-star chapter of the USTA Foundation's NJTL network, which comprises over 250 nonprofit youth development organizations that offer free or low-cost tennis and education programs. The 4-star rating is reserved for organizations that provide the most comprehensive tennis and educational programming, that robustly track program outcomes, that assure the highest level of coaching, and that have strong organizational development and leadership. We are honored to be counted among this select group and are grateful to the USTA Foundation for supporting our efforts.

the challenge

PHYSICAL ACTIVITY

"Physical, mental, social, emotional, cognitive and academic benefits flow to youth whose bodies are in motion. Physically active children are 1/10 as likely to be obese, smoke less, use illegal drugs less, have risky sex less, are less likely to suffer depression, have up to 40% higher test scores, and are 15% more likely to go to college." - ASPEN INSTITUTE

DEVELOPMENTAL RELATIONSHIPS

"Young people who experience strong developmental relationships are more likely to show signs of positive development in many areas, including increased academic motivation, increased social-emotional growth and learning, increased sense of personal responsibility; and reduced engagement in a variety of high-risk behaviors."

BUILDING COMMUNITY

"School performance, public health, crime rates, clinical depression, race relations, community development, teen suicide, economic productivity, and even simple human happiness - all are demonstrably affected by how (and whether) we connect with our family and friends and neighbors."

our approach

ICT programs use tennis as a vehicle to support youth in developing a lifelong passion for physical activity. While many of our participants do develop passion for tennis, others apply the athleticism, skills, and confidence they gain on the tennis court to other activities.

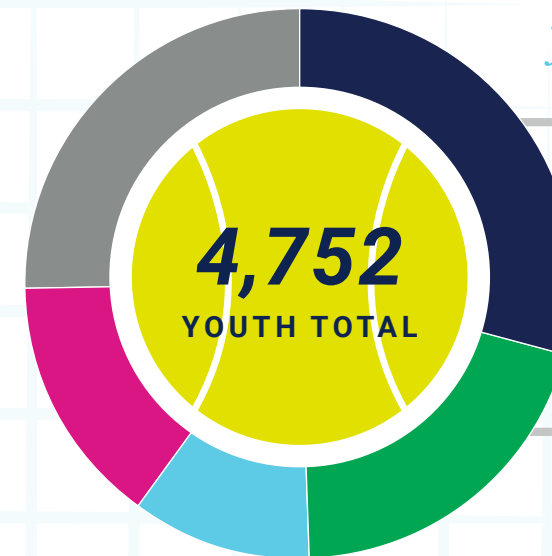

ICT's programs create space for positive relationships to form between youth participants and their coaches, supporting them as they develop on the court and off it - at school, in the community, and beyond.

Whether through intentional team-building, community service or, of course, playing tennis, ICT programs build intentional, positive community. As kids progress through our programs, guided by our coaches, they develop valuable networks of peers and friends in their local communities and beyond.

Schools + Partners

Through ICT's Schools & Partners programs, our coaches embed themselves in various schools and in the programs of partners like Urban Ventures and Hospitality House Youth Development. Our coaches blend elements of ICT's Kidspeed, USTA's Net Generation, and USTA Foundation's A.C.E. curricula to teach tennis, general physical activity, nutrition, and interpersonal skills in alignment with each partner's needs and goals. Our coaches typically spend four to eight weeks teaching for two to five hours per day at most schools and partner locations.

"InnerCity Tennis and the Excellence Team have provided ongoing support on and off the court. We appreciate everyone and everything. It's a challenging path. We are lucky to be a part of such a great organization and look forward to giving back more in the future."

- PARKS PROGRAM PARENT

Since its launch in 1952, our flagship summer program, Tennis in the Parks, has grown and established itself as one of Minneapolis' foremost youth-development-through-sports programs. The program takes place annually at 20+ Minneapolis Parks and provides introductory through intermediate level tennis lessons directly in the neighborhoods where Minneapolis kids live. We strive to make the program accessible to all through reasonable pricing ($55/week in 2022) and readily available scholarships. Additionally, Tennis in the Parks serves as a youth-development-through-employment opportunity, providing a value-centric first professional experience for dozens of our late-teen staff members.

Cities Academy

Cities Academy is our year-round tennis training program for developing and competitive youth players. Whether they are picking up a racket for the first time or are seasoned competitors, players receive top-level coaching and find a community in which they belong and matter. Cities Academy is fee-based with scholarships available to all in need. We emphasize personal and inter-personal development, using tennis principally as a youth development vehicle.

"We have tried local city leagues, but they often lack rigor and are packed with too many kids. We went on a search for a club that has great coaches and teaching and found ICT."

In 2022, InnerCity Tennis received an anonymous charitable contribution of $500,000 one of our largest one-time gifts. We know very little about the donor except that they were particularly impressed by our youth development work in collaboration with Minneapolis Public Schools and felt compelled to support it further. The donor has requested that their contribution be used to advance our work in that area.

Thanks to the generosity of our ongoing supportive community, we have been able to commit to multi-year initiatives with Minneapolis Public Schools that would have been impossible otherwise. Our commitments include facilitating a club season for Minneapolis Public Middle schools and providing programming through the Minneapolis Beacons Network throughout summer 2023, among others.

We're extremely grateful for the anonymous donor's gift and humbled by their generosity, just as we are deeply appreciative of the ongoing support we receive from all our ICT community.

A Social Enterprise

Financials

InnerCity Tennis is a social enterprise, where our fee-for-service programs (e.g. leagues, drills, lessons and court rentals) cover almost all our administrative and fundraising costs. This means that contributions to InnerCity Tennis very efficiently support our community programs.
